The California Social Work Education Center, The Child & Family Policy Institute of California, & the California Department of Social Services are pleased to present

The Leadership Symposia on Evidence-Based Practice in the Human Services

California's Budget Crisis: Evidence of Impact

Content

This working symposium will bring academic and practice leaders together to discuss the impacts of the human services cuts, how we can effectively track their impact, and what strategies will assist county agencies in meeting the challenges posed by them.

More details on the symposium, logistics, and registration information coming soon!

Partial funding for this symposium is provided by the California Department of Social Services.
